Novel Winter Fishing.

Men and boys of the west end of town have been having a harvest during the past three or four days catching fish at Rempel's and White's ponds, west of town. During the past summer, on account of the light rainfall, the water in these two ponds was very low; and in fact, for the past three months there has been no outlet from either pond.

When the freezing water of the past ten days came ice soon formed, and, covering every air hole, caused the fish to come beneath the ice in hopes of getting air. The boys who first tested the breaking qualities of the ice in hopes of being the first to skate were the ones to discover the predicament of the fish.

The news soon spread, and last Friday and Saturday 100 men and boys were busily engaged in securing fresh fish for the table. Hatchets and axes were used as the death-dealing implements, and when a school of fish were sighted beneath, the ice was struck a hard blow. The fish were stunned. A hole was then chopped through the ice and the fish secured. Several hundred pounds of fish were secured, the majority of them being carp.-Logan (Ohio)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
has added as years to my life and has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain, and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I ran cross Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."-- MISS ALICE M. SILENT SALUTE OF THE JAPS.

At the recent grand review of the Japanese fleet, when the Mikado's launch went by, the civilians removed their top hats and the officers stood saluting in absolute ellence. Table Linen. Most housekepeers have in reserve several embroidered or lace centrepieces, which are used occasionally as they fit into the color scheme with which the table is decorated. The careful owner generally keeps these embroideries folded in a box and every time she uses them there are folds and creases to press out. A much better Way is to provide sheets of thick, stiff wrapping paper, lay the linen or lace in the paper, roll up lightly, snap an elastic band round and lay in a drawer

Weeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeee The Value of Subsoiling.

Farmers do not seem to favor subolling, even when it is given a trial. They claim that the soil does not recover for two or three years. It is irged in favor of subsoiling that the land improves every year, although it may have been subsoiled but once. In viewing the effects it should be in the light of improvement and not a recovry, as no injurious effects are noticed at any time. It is also claimed that if a narrow roller could follow the subsoil plow, so as to compact the soil aftor the subsoil plow has passed, the capacity to hold water would be greatly increased and the benefits of subseiling be more immediate.

The Use of Absorbents. One of the best methods of keeping manure is to have a pit, with cement bottom and sides, and the solid portions kept wet by pumping on the heap from the drainings, for if the manure is kept damp there will be a great difference in its value. Experiments made show that a heap carefully managed and kept wet lost about thirteen per cent, of its nitrogen, while another heap, not kept wet, lost about twentyfour per cent, of its nitrogen. Manure, even when kept wet, will be more valuable if, in addition to the cut straw and stalks used as absorbents, the manure is first covered with dirt and marl, a layer of manure being followed The loss of nitrogen when such a plan has been tested did not exceed two per cent. Marl is perhaps the cheapest and best absorbent material, as it not only serves to prevent loss, but is clean, easily handled and costs but | very little. It can be used both in the stalks and in the heap, and applied freely. It really enriches the manure as well as preserving it, for the reason that it contains plant food in an insoluble condition, which becomes available for plants when used with the solid and liquid manures .- Philadelphia Record. Classification of Food. In feeding animals, the farmer, by his knowledge of the difference be tween flesh-forming foods and those that form fat, is enabled to so combine the different foods as to provide for all their wants. "Allow me to express my gratttude to you for the benefit derived | from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider muself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Peruna will cure you."

A constantly increasing number of physicians prescribe Peruna in their practice. It has proven its merits so thoroughly that even the doctors have overcome their prejudice against so-called patent medicines and recommend it to their patients.

Peruna occupies a unique position in medical science. It is the only internal systemic catarrh remedy known to the medical profession to-day. Catarrh, as every one will admit, is the cause of one-half the disease which afflicts mankind. Catarrh and catarrhal diseases afflict one-half of the people of United States.  Robert R. Roberts, M. D., Washington, D. C., writes: "Through my own expertence as well as that of many of my friends and acquaintances who have been cured or relieved of catarrh by the use of Hartman's Peruna, I can confidently recommend it to those suffering from such disorders, and have no hesttation in prescribing it to my patients." -Robert R. Roberts. ************

Dr. R. Robbins, Muskogee, I. T., writes:
"Peruna is the best medicine I know of for coughs and to strengthen a weak stomach and to give appetite. Besides prescribing it for catarrh, I have ordered it for weak and debilitated people, and have not had a patient but said it helped him. It is an excellent medicine and it fits so many cases.

"I have a large practice, and have a chance to prescribe your Peruna. I hope you may live long to do good to the sick and the suffering."

Dr. M. C. Gee writes from 513 Jones St., San Francisco, Cal.:

"Peruna has performed so many wonderful cures in San Francisco that I sm convinced that it is a valuable remedy. I have frequently advised its use for women, as I find it insures regular and painless."

Peruna immediately invigorates the nerve centres which give vitality to the mucous membranes, Then catarrh disappears. Then catarrh is permanently cured. If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
